Why Labor Needs Improved And Expanded “Medicare For All”

LABOR’S CASE FOR
Single Payer National Health Insurance

Our nation’s health care is in crisis. This affects not only the 46 million uninsured, but also the insured — including those with health benefits under collective bargaining agreements.

There’s nothing natural or inevitable about the costly, employer-based health insurance system we have in the U.S. In fact, we’re the only major industrialized nation that doesn’t provide health insurance for all.

DID YOU KNOW?

- The U.S. spends more money per person on health care than any other nation, yet there are 46 million people without health insurance.
- 15-30% of private insurance companies' premiums are wasted on marketing, CEO salaries, profits, paperwork and bureaucracy rather than health care services.
- Drug prices in countries with national health systems are a third to a half lower than in the U.S.
- Hospitals and doctors spend billions of dollars dealing with insurance companies, money that could be spent instead on health care.
- 18,000 Americans die every year because of no or insufficient health insurance coverage

THE "UNITED STATES NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE ACT," ("EXPANDED & IMPROVED MEDICARE FOR ALL ACT") H.R. 676

Congressman John Conyers, Jr. (D-MI) (joined by more than 75 co-signers) has introduced HR 676. This single-payer health care program proposes an effective mechanism for controlling skyrocketing health costs while covering all 46 million uninsured Americans and improving health care for everyone.

HR 676 would cover every person in the U.S. for all necessary medical care including prescription drugs, hospital, surgical, outpatient services, primary and preventive care, emergency services, dental, mental health, home health, physical therapy, rehabilitation (including for substance abuse), vision care, chiropractic and long term care. HR 676 ends deductibles and co-payments. HR 676 would save billions annually by eliminating high overhead and profits of the private health insurance industry and HMOs, as well as excessive and unnecessary billing expenses of hospitals and doctors' offices.

IN COUNTRY AFTER COUNTRY, labor took the lead in championing universal health insurance. Unions here in the United States need to do the same. Labor's participation is essential for achieving needed health care reform.

LABOR'S STAKE IN HEALTH CARE REFORM

- Employers' attempts to cut back existing health benefits are the leading source of conflict in labor negotiations today.
- Out-of-pocket health care expenses for insured people are rising while their coverage is dwindling.
- Health care costs rise each year at the rate of 10% or more, far above the rate of growth of other things we buy.
- A single payer health care system would save more than $300 billion annually.
- Under our employer-based system, if you lose your job, you lose your health insurance too – just when you may need it the most!
- Half of U.S. bankruptcies are attributable to illness and medical bills.
- Employees all too often stay in jobs they dislike because they are afraid to risk losing health insurance coverage.
- Labor can win respect and gain support from those who are not in unions by defending not only its own concerns but also the needs of the whole population. Working for universal health care is a very effective way to do just that.

THERE ARE THOSE WHO ARGUE that labor shouldn't advocate national health insurance because universal coverage would take away a major incentive for joining unions. But countries with universal health insurance have a far higher proportion of the working population in unions than the U.S. Unions can gain better wages, pensions, and working conditions if they aren't sidetracked into bargaining to retain essential health care benefits.

SOME UNION MEMBERS FEAR they would lose the level of benefits they've won if we had national health insurance. In fact, under the current system labor's health benefits are eroding with every contract negotiation. Union members would have a much better chance of keeping decent benefits, even improving them, if they could form alliances and coalitions with others to insist that the government provide coverage for comprehensive, high quality health care for all. Moreover, unions would always retain the right to bargain for benefits not covered by national health insurance.

IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE THIS WAY – THERE IS AN ALTERNATIVE

A single payer national health insurance system would provide coverage for all residents of the U.S. Such a single payer system would replace private insurance premiums and out-of-pocket co-pays and deductibles with progressive taxes that would go into a Health Care Trust Fund.

Several unions and union leaders have come out in favor of U.S. Representative John Conyers's United States National Health Insurance Act ("Expanded and Improved Medicare for All Act" – see a partial list of labor endorsers on pages 6 and 7). But labor's voice needs to be strong and clear, inviting the American people and U.S. employers to join in the effort to bring a realistic, fair and efficient solution to today's health care crisis: single payer national health insurance.
